bine and gold speckled front is the most intricata and scientific. Any one horse member of the Siman family can catch a bass, a sucker, or a catch, but it takes a 'whole team.' with a little dog under the wagon, to catch a mountain trout.
One who is unaccustomed to the sport may stand all day and all night on the brink of the clear stream of a mountain creek, and see hun dreds of the prattices trout eddying around, eagerly watching him, sporting with has well batted hook, and rounsing from it, but never attempting to hite at it, and if he catches one angle trout, or comes within ten hours of a nibble, let him chalk the fact down on the nearest rock he come to, for it will be one of the greatest wonders of the waters. But if he scretce himself behind some favoring bash or rock, and easts his time over into the stream, with his hook halted when a fig. grasshopper, or common angle
